CONTRACT FOR COLLABORATIVE COACHING SERVICES

Please Read Carefully

This contract outlines our agreement regarding my providing coaching services to support your collaborative law dissolution. Because you decided to use the collaborative process for your dissolution, I agreed to provide you specific assistance to support that effort. Before you sign this contract, please make sure you agree to all of its stipulations. You may hold off signing until you review this document with an attorney.

You are retaining Lisa Gabardi, Ph.D., to provide coaching services with your collaborative law case. You are making a commitment to resolve disputes using non-adversarial processes. The collaborative team, of which I am a member, is being hired for settlement negotiations only. My services are limited to non-litigation only. The collaborative process entails a commitment to adhere to principles such as honesty, open communication, and mutual respect. (Please see attached the Rules of Good Faith in the Collaborative Process form and initial your commitment to these rules of conduct).

My Background and Education

I have been licensed as a psychologist practicing in Oregon for over twenty-six years. My doctoral degree is in counseling psychology from Colorado State University. I have a research background in the effects of divorce on children and am published in the Journal of Divorce and Remarriage. I have years of clinical experience providing counseling to individuals and couples going through divorce. I also have specific training in conflict resolution, negotiation and mediation as well as the collaborative divorce model. I am a member of the Independent Practice Division of the American Psychological Association, the Oregon Psychological Association, the Oregon Mediation Association, the International Academy of Collaborative Professionals, the Oregon Association of Collaborative Professionals, and the nation and Oregon chapter of the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts.

In consideration of the mutual promises contained in this document, you and I agree that this contract is made subject to the following terms and conditions:

- A. My services are to help you achieve a marital dissolution, which will minimize the negative impacts upon social, emotional and financial aspects of your life and the lives of your children.

B. I agree to work as a member of a collaborative team to facilitate communications and help resolve conflicts throughout the dissolution process. Specifically, I agree to help you:

1. Identify and prioritize your concerns;
2. Clarify your goals and objectives;
3. Bring focus to the best interests of the children (this may include development of a parenting plan);
4. Utilize effective and respectful negotiation processes;
5. Ensure constructive communication skills are applied; and
6. Sustain a collaborative environment.
7. Remind you and help you honor commitments made in this Agreement.

C. You understand and agree to:

1. Be respectful and courteous to all parties and professionals involved;
2. Candidly communicate your ideas, thinking and concerns;
3. Demonstrate you are open to new ideas and approaches to problem solving, which are beyond your own experience;
4. Be forthcoming with complete and accurate information needed by the parties and professionals;
5. Allow others to speak without interrupting them;
6. Encourage and support efforts to collaborate with others;
7. Focus on the best interests of the children; and
8. Work as a team member to help reach a consensus on the content of the dissolution documents and forms.

D. Further, you agree to:

1. Suspend court involvement in any aspect of your dissolution, while the collaborative efforts are underway, and
2. Hire, support and provide information to professionals as may be required; for example, family law attorneys, certified public accountants, specialists in psychology of children, and others needed to reach resolution to questions and concerns.

E. I agree to perform the duties of Collaborative Law coach, not to interpret laws. You understand that as coach I will act as an impartial facilitator without favor to either party. I cannot assess what would happen if you were to withdraw from collaborative processes and then present your concerns to a court.

F. You acknowledge and understand that the normal privacy and confidentiality practices applied by mental health counselors and similar professionals and their clients do not apply here. I will share with other individuals involved in the collaborative process your ideas, analyses, proposals, and other statements you make to me. You do not expect me to hold confidential things you say from the collaborative team. To the extent allowed by law, I agree to hold confidential what I hear and see throughout the collaborative process and prevent release by me from individuals not involved in the collaborative process.

- G. You agree that I may share information from individual sessions with you with your spouse/partner and his/her attorney. I may use my professional judgment regarding information to share, at my discretion, in order to further the collaborative process. If you specifically request that information not be shared, I will honor that request, but the confidential information may be of such a nature to necessitate my withdrawal from your case and termination of this Agreement.*
- H. You are hereby agreeing to waive any right you may have had to the release to you or others my notes, analyses, and communications that I possess, except to support the collaborative process and as noted below; this includes rights you may have had under any Federal and State laws.*
- I. You agree to hold Lisa Gabardi, Ph.D. harmless from any difficulties that might arise from the collaborative process or any resulting agreement.*
- J. You acknowledge that I will at no time provide you with therapy or a psychological evaluation, whether or not you perceive that I am or have provided such services. In addition, I will not be available after completion of collaborative services and/or contract termination to provide you with therapy or psychological evaluation services. You may seek my coaching services in the future as related to divorce transition and co-parenting.*
- K. You acknowledge that I may/shall breach any and all confidentiality agreements between us, perceived or otherwise, if I come to believe:
 - 1. There is a threat of physical harm to an identifiable person;
 - 2. A person poses a danger to him/herself and/or others; or
 - 3. I have a suspicious of or actual knowledge of child abuse or neglect, abuse of a dependent or abuse of an elder adult.
- L. Additionally, a copy of this document will be given to each member of the collaborative team. Any documents (including e-mails) may be released if directed by a court or the Oregon State Bar Association related to claims of misconduct or malpractice. You understand that using documents and other information during the collaborative process will not cause them to become privileged or confidential, unless they were created specifically for the collaborative process.

No Guarantees

Success in building a collaborative environment is dependent on many factors. Some of those factors are: Issues that are identified, the motivation of the parties to succeed, the efforts made by the parties to fulfill their responsibilities, and the parties' commitment to collaborative processes. Despite these uncertainties, I will work with you and do my best to help you realize your goals for this process. I cannot provide guarantees.

To the best of my ability I will adhere to the ethical standards developed by the International Association of Collaborative Professionals, www.collaborativepractice.com and the American Psychological Association, <http://www.apa.org/ethics/code/index.aspx>.

Contract Termination

You understand that collaborative process is a voluntary process; you may choose to stop the process at any time. This contract ends not later than the signing of dissolution papers. If you withdraw from the collaborative effort and/or begin or continue with any court action for any reason, my services will end. You may choose to terminate my services at any time for any reason. I can help you transition to other professionals within this process or in a different settlement process. If I provide you with two days prior notice, I may withdraw from this process for any reason.
